

Froneri Polska - Cookies Policy

Cookies

Froneri Polska Sp. z o.o. with its registered office in Mielec, Poland, may use cookies when a User visits the website www.froneri.pl and the sub-pages located under this address (hereinafter referred to as the "Website").

The administrator of cookies is Froneri Polska Sp. z o.o. with its registered office in Mielec (39-300), ul. Wojska Polskiego 3, entered in the National Court Register (KRS) maintained by the District Court in Rzeszów, 12th Economic Division under entry No. KRS 0000047883.

Cookies are small files containing specific information, saved during a visit on the Website, which the Website can read during a User's subsequent connection with the Website.

Cookies which may be used during a visit on the Website are associated exclusively with the browser of a specific computer, without supplying the User's name or surname. Such information is saved by the Froneri Polska server or on the User's computer, which the Froneri Polska server may read every time when the User's computer connects to it, or directly on the Froneri Polska server.

Cookies are used for the following purposes:

- to create statistics, which allow us to understand how the Users use the Website (duration of visit, IP address, URL address, browser, etc.), which allows for improvement of its' structure and content;
- to allow the User to log-in on the Website;
- to maintain the User's session (after logging-in), thanks to which the User does not have to enter the log-in and the password on every sub-page of the Website;
- to associate the User later in case of renewed connection of the User's computer with the Website;
- to determine the User profile to display customised materials in the advertising network, in particular, Google.

The information contained in cookies is stored during an unspecified period of time as auxiliary material used to administer the Website.

The collected information is not combined with the User's personal data and is not used to determine the User's personality.

The User may, at any time, choose the manner of cookies operation by replacing the automatic cookies operation with individual operation. This may affect the scope of data saved on the Website. Detailed information in this respect is provided by providers of Internet browsers.

If the User turns off the option of accepting cookies, it may cause difficulties or even prevent the use of certain Website functionalities.